MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT: Federal Highway Administration Concerns

1. I met with Phil Bowen at the Turner-Fairbanks Highway Research Station on 7 November 1985. Phil raised an issue which he has mentioned to us in the past. His concern is the large number of contractors lined up on the inbound lane of Turkey Run Road waiting for the construction gate to open. A number of FHWA employees have reported to him that they must wait in line with the contractors until the line moves since it is unsafe to pass on the opposite lane around a curve and in the dark.

2. At the present time this appears to be nothing more than an inconvenience to our neighbors. However, it could become a matter of liability should there be an accident because of the backup.

3. Because a number of FHWA employees have complained to Phil Bowen about this inconvenience, he asked that I get back to him about what we can do about the situation.
